The Arizona Department of Juvenile Corrections (ADJC) is responsible for juveniles adjudicated to its jurisdiction by county juvenile courts. ADJC is also accountable to the citizens of Arizona including members of Native American Tribes, to ensure public safety through the management of the State's secure juvenile facilities and the development and provision of a continuum of services to juvenile offenders including rehabilitation, treatment, and education. For the purpose of this policy, ADJC welcomes Tribal input and will provide services that support the objectives of the State in the rehabilitation, treatment, and education of Native Americans juveniles; however, the provision of such services shall not be used as a basis for assertion of State authority within Indian Country.
